HOW WE CAN HELP YOUR BUSINESS – PRE SIGN-UP

The steps that happen before the apprenticeship or traineeship commences are just as important as what happens when the training is in full swing. Here are the tools and processes we've put in place to help you and your new recruit to succeed in the long term:

Finding staff – Open the door to new recruits through skillsroad.com.au

- ✓ Access to over 300,000 eager job seekers
- ✓ Automated job matching to get your vacancies in front of suitable candidates
- ✓ Put applicants through our Job Fit Test
- ✓ Personalised candidate reports for all roles listed on the Skillsroad Jobs Board
- ✓ Connections with local schools and training organisations to access talent

Workplace assessment

- ✓ Access to our RecruitReady Diagnostic for you to assess whether your business is ready to hire
- ✓ Visit your workplace to assess your workforce needs
- ✓ Identify business-wide training opportunities
- ✓ Recommend relevant qualifications for individual staff
- ✓ Explain Government incentives, funding and rebates
- ✓ Identify Registered Training Organisations to deliver qualifications

3.

Pre-commencement checks with your apprentice or trainee

- ✓ Provide information about the qualification they are planning to undertake
- ✓ Work-readiness assessment to ensure your apprentice or trainee is prepared for the challenge
- ✓ Educating your apprentice on their obligations, roles and responsibilities

REMEMBER

All of our services are delivered at no cost to you.

HOW WE CAN HELP YOUR BUSINESS – DURING SIGN-UP

Once you have found the candidate for your role, it's time to make things official. And because paperwork can get a little overwhelming at times, we have your back throughout this very important step:

Important documents

✓ Training Contract (TC)

The TC is a legally binding apprenticeship/traineeship agreement to provide employment and structured training for the duration of the contract. It's important that you read through the obligations stated in this contract with your apprentice/trainee.

✓ National Code of Good Practice

Whilst some things should go without saying, it is important that both the employer and the apprentice/trainee are familiar with the content of this document and in agreement on its guidelines. It clearly states the obligations and expectations of both parties and a copy should be retained by the employer and the apprentice/trainee so you can refer to it when necessary.

Other things you should know

✓ Record keeping and privacy

Providers are obliged to adhere to a Code of Conduct, which means your personal information will not be disclosed to anyone other than relevant Government departments. Information is collected by Apprenticeship Support Australia for the purpose of administering financial incentives. Employers and their apprentices or trainees may request access to information that relates to them, by providing proof of identity.

✓ Employer obligations

Employers are required to provide appropriate support, training and supervision to their apprentice or trainee to help them gain the skills and knowledge needed to complete the requirements of their trade or vocation. Luckily, Apprenticeship Support Australia is available to help should you need assistance at any time.

✓ Training arrangements

All apprentices and trainees are required to complete a qualification as a component of their training. This may include 'off-the-job' training at a campus, or 'on-the-job' via on-line learning. Your selected training organisation will negotiate the training plan together with you and your apprentice/trainee.

Once the sign up process is completed, ASA will digitally lodge the Training Contract. The DTWD Apprenticeship Office will notify you once the National Training Contract has been approved.

WHO'S INVOLVED?

Who signs you up?

Apprenticeship Support Australia (ASA)

ASA is your Provider contracted by the Australian Government. We conduct the training contract sign up, conduct eligibility for the incentive program, offer support services, and have regular contact with the apprentice/trainee and employer.

State Training Authority (STA)

The DTWD Apprenticeship Office is the regulator of apprenticeships and traineeships in Western Australia. They provide the final step and approve your training arrangement. They make things official!

Who employs the Australian Apprentice?

Employer

The employer hires apprentices/trainees and provides appropriate support, training and supervision for all apprentices and trainees to gain the skills and knowledge to complete their qualification.

Group Training Organisation (GTO)

In some instances the apprentice/trainee is not employed directly by an employer, but through a GTO. The GTO employs them and places them with an employer.

Apprenticeship Data Management System (ADMS)

ADMS is a modern and secure platform supporting the delivery of Australian Apprenticeship programs. The ADMS system is used by the employer to review and submit some claim applications. If eligible to claim - employers will receive an email notification to advise their application is ready to progress from ADMS.

Who trains the Australian Apprentice?

The employer – on-the-job training

Gaining hands-on experience is important for an apprentice. The employer provides appropriate support, training and supervision on the job so that the apprentice/trainee can gain the skills and knowledge to complete their qualification.

Registered Training Organisation (RTO) – off-site training

The RTO works with you to deliver a training plan, deliver training, assess achievement of skills and issue the qualification on successful completion.

THE ESSENTIALS

Claiming your incentives

As the employer you are responsible for lodging the completed forms with Apprenticeship Support Australia or through ADMS.

Follow these simple steps to get paid:

- 1. All claim forms will be sent to you with detailed instructions.
- 2. Most of the information will be pre-filled. Double-check the information and fill in the blank questions.
- 3. Wage evidence will need to be supplied to cover the effect date of the claim.

Remember: Claims for financial incentives must be claimed within 12 months of the eligible due dates.

REMEMBER - If your details have changed in any way, let us know as soon as you can so we can ensure your claims can be completed as usual.

Award and wages

- ✓ Rates of pay are determined by the modern award or agreement under which the Australian Apprentice is employed. These will generally reflect the costs to the employer of providing training, and the value of work performed by the apprentice or trainee.
- ✓ An apprentice or trainee should be treated like any other employee in relation to superannuation, workers' compensation and other entitlements or requirements.

Complaints resolution procedure

- ✓ Your local Industry Training Consultant can provide you, your apprentice or trainee and any other parties with advice on our complaints resolution procedures, which give you an opportunity to raise issues or provide feedback on the services you or your apprentice/trainee have received.

Employment status and eligibility

- ✓ Employees must be employed on a full-time or a permanent part-time basis.
- ✓ Certain types of visa holders may be eligible to participate in the Australian Apprenticeships program.

Insurance

- ✓ If you own a business, you may be liable for damages or injuries to another person or property. Though public liability insurance is optional in most cases, it is strongly recommended for businesses in all industries as the risk of being sued for negligence is unpredictable and potentially very costly.

Training and associated costs

- ✓ Training fees and who pays depends on the RTO, availability of State funding, and the industrial arrangement under which the Australian apprentice is paid.

APPRENTICESHIPS DATA MANAGEMENT SYSTEM (ADMS)

The Apprenticeships Data Management System (ADMS) is the digital platform the Australian Government has introduced to manage claim applications.

Employers are responsible for establishing their connection to ADMS, to do this follow the 3 easy steps below.

How to access ADMS for employers Before accessing ADMS, employers will need to have a myID account. myID is your digital identity and makes it easier to prove who you are online. It's like a 100-point ID check but on your smart device.

Step 1

Creating a digital identity using myID

Detailed instructions on how to create your myID account are available online at myid.gov.au. In short, the steps for creating your myID are:

- 1 Download the myID app on your smart device and follow the prompts
- 2 Enter your details – you need to enter your full name, date of birth and email address
- 3 Choose your identity strength – general access to ADMS requires at least a 'standard' identity strength. However, if you are the first user to be acting on behalf of your ABN, you will need 'strong' identity strength to proceed

Register for an ADMS account

Once you have linked your digital identity (myID) to a business in RAM, you will be able self-register for an ADMS account using the link on the Employer Sign In page. Visit adms.australianapprenticeships.gov.au/adms/sign-in

- 1 Select New to ADMS
- 2 Select "Register for an account on the ADMS Portal"
- 3 Select myID as your digital identity
- 4 Enter your details
- 5 Enter the code that appears on your myID app
- 6 A new page should appear when your account has been registered
- 7 You can now navigate back to ADMS to log on with your myID

Step 2

Connect to Relationship Authorisation Manager (RAM)

RAM allows business owners to link their digital identity to their business and to authorise others to act on their behalf when using participating online government services. To link your myID with your business, or authorise others to act on your behalf, please visit info.authorisationmanager.gov.au

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Employing an apprentice or trainee is a step in the right direction for business growth and increased production. Below are answers to some questions you might be asking.

01. How do I arrange training for my apprentice/trainee?

Your ASA Industry Training Consultant will help you select a suitable RTO during the sign-up of your apprentice or trainee. The RTO will contact you and your apprentice/trainee to discuss the training and will complete a detailed training plan that needs to be signed by you, your apprentice or trainee and the RTO. You and your apprentice/trainee should have a copy of the full training plan.

02. What do I need to know about supervision for my apprentice or trainee?

Minimum supervision requirements in certain industries may be identified in the applicable industrial award and differs across trade and occupational areas or licencing arrangements.

Minimum requirements for Apprentice supervisor

Depending on the qualification, the workplace supervisor must be someone who is either trade qualified or trade experienced in the vocation being undertaken. For regulated trades the supervisor must also hold an applicable license.

Minimum requirements for trainee supervisor

The workplace supervisor must be someone who is either experienced or qualified at the same or higher level in the vocation being undertaken.

03. What should I be paying my apprentice/trainee?

Your apprentice or trainee must be paid at least the wage rate set out in the award or industrial agreement you have specified in the Training Contract. You must provide them with a payslip. Apprentices and trainees are eligible to receive the standard entitlements, e.g. sick, annual, parental leave, overtime, etc. as set out in the award. Visit fairwork.gov.au for this information.

04. Can my apprentice/trainee complete early?

Yes, early completion may occur if the apprentice or trainee has been assessed as competent and issued with a qualification by their RTO. The application for early completion must be supported by both the employer and apprentice/trainee.

05. What do I need to do if I sell, close or change the name of my business?

Any of those instances may affect your training contract with your apprentice or trainee. You need to contact ASA for assistance.

06. Where can I get advice and support?

We have specialised support services for you and your apprentice or trainee to assist you towards a successful completion of the training arrangement.

TOP TIP – Your Industry Training Consultant and the ASA Contact Hub are your main points of contact to guide you and support you on the journey.
